B149 Natural Gas & Propane Code Series 2010 Now Available

The definitive resource for gas and propane industry workers across Canada, the B149 Code Series 2010 edition reflects the latest advances in technology and corresponding safety requirements. Updated editions of the code are typically reviewed by regulatory authorities across Canada for adoption into provincial law; check with your local regulator to see which edition of the B149 Code is currently in force in your jurisdiction.

The B149 series provides important guidance on how to do your job safely, from handling and storage of natural gas and propane, to safe and effective installation of related appliances and equipment, and more.
